REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

Native American Cultural Display

Project Overview: Nevada's Indian Territory, a non-profit marketing arm of the Nevada Commission on Tourism, is seeking Request for Proposals for a Native American cultural display at the Reno-Tahoe International Airport in order to attract and educate visitors to Nevada's Indian Territory.

Project Goals: Currently there is a small exhibit housed at the Reno-Tahoe International Airport in Reno, NV that requires relocation to a larger area inside the airport. The purpose of this display is to educate visitors to the airport about Native American culture and to encourage visitors to visit Nevada's Indian Territory. Designers will work with Territory representatives to design and install a permanent Native American cultural display using mixed mediums.

Scope of Work: The display will interpret the nature and lifestyles of the Native Americans of Nevada. The display should inform visitors to the airport about the unique culture of the Native Americans of Nevada (Northern and Southern Paiute, Western Shoshone, and Washoe), encouraging visitation to Nevada's Indian Territory using the following:

- Two wall areas: 24' 4" and 18' 7" with 95" ceiling height
- Large flat screen monitors as marketing aids Installing an interactive geographic floor map that highlights tribal locations
- Native mixed media artwork from the Nevada Tribes (Northern and Southern Paiute, Western Shoshone and Washoe)
- Wall art including large pictures of tribal attractions and housing a traditional bow, arrow and quiver
- Display cases housing pre-modern cultural artifacts (display cases and artifacts have already been purchased by the Territory)
- Repurposing existing exhibit pieces as much as possible

The actual square footage for display cases is limited, but reconfiguration/redesign of seating is possible and designers are encouraged to submit a project that reconfigures the seating for maximum impact of the exhibit. Additional art and artifacts (if needed) will be provided by Nevada's Indian Territory

Contact Sari Nichols at 775-687-7603 or snichols@nic.nv.gov for exact location of proposed area and current exhibit. See the Nevada Indian Territory website for photos

RFP's must include the following information:

- A letter of interest
- A cost estimate and budget outline
- A current professional resume
- Three professional references
- Work samples

Conditions: Upon completion of the project all work will become the property of Nevada's Indian Territory, including copyright, and be free from any proprietary restrictions.

Timeline: Spring 2018 with a deadline for work of June 2019.

RFP Submission Deadline: Proposals must be postmarked or submitted via e-mail by 5PM PST Thursday, February 16, 2018. Submittal of a proposal does not guarantee project award.
